Full page article asks the question "what gift can we give Jehovah?"
The answer is to give money to watchtower.
How does this make sense?

Did you notice that they said you can give your time, etc. oh and money. Then: rest of the page is about how to give money.

What about your talents and your time?

No the money is most important.

Let the rocks cry out I say.

"Religion has actually convinced people that there's an invisible man living in the sky who watches everything you do, every minute of every day. And the invisible man has a special list of ten things he does not want you to do. And if you do any of these ten things, he has a special place, full of fire and smoke and burning and torture and anguish, where he will send you to live and suffer and burn and choke and scream and cry forever and ever 'til the end of time!"

But He loves you. He loves you, and He needs money! He always needs money! He's all-powerful, all-perfect, all-knowing, and all-wise, somehow just can't handle money!"

I love how George Carlin's tone changes when he says that, with all sincerity. The man was a comedic genius. And so good at making reality obvious, to anyone who actually listens to him.

As deluded as they are, the org probably doesn't consider this 'begging'.

I guess Chuck Russell's comments about if God, who owns everything, fails to provide, we will cease publication.

Oh, that's right — their publishing is heading towards zero.

Praise the universe when that day comes!

Found on the online library: "Zion's watchtower" has, we believe, Jehovah for its backer, and while this is the case it will never beg nor petition men for support. When He who says: 'All the gold and silver of the mountains are mine,' fails to provide necessary funds, we will understand it to be time to suspend the publication."

I have a sneaking suspicion that this is why 'they' decided that the faithful slave consists of a group of men who hang out in the main offices [& here's the important part] since 1919 - according to the 'new light'. Planning to eventually delete everything Russel said. Not that they mind pyramids, miracle wheat, 1914 bringing the rapture, etc., it's that damn comment about never asking for money!

Hey guys, we are different from other religions ! We don't tithe, we don't pass a plate, we don't beg.....anyway here are a few scriptures that show we are different and only on a "donation basis" yet another term coined to make it sound like we don't beg for money in the name of god! It's different though! It's the truth,that makes our lying assholery okay! Que fake smile,forced happiness and a side of love bombing. AND SCENE!

Besides the churches that have compulsory tithing, this brings wt to the top ranks of beggars. In a sense this is more fraudulent, since wt asks people to give money to God, using a personal name, Jehovah, when the money can only be sent to corporations with officers named Leon Weaver Jr and Bob Ciranko, who do the bidding of Sam/Gerry/Dave/Steve/Tony/Geoff/Mark.....

I haven't read everyone's comments yet because I just felt ragey. JW org always prided itself (I thought) on not soliciting donations.

Followers are taught that Jehovah will provide for them financially if they are faithful to Him. So why does the WT need $ - can't Jehovah provide it? I just feel so disgusted seeing that ad. I never remember seeing anything like it - donation boxes used to be fairly discreet, and the giving discreet. JW's held their noses in the air over churches who pass collection plates and ask for tithes.

Didn't Jesus overthrow the sellers in the temple? How is this any different?

Interesting, the November Watchtower was always used to 'advertise' the methods by which it is possible to donate to Watchtower. But the difference here is that no mention is made of bequeathing assets etc. That, together with the brazen tone of this article, is further indication that they are cash-strapped!

They don't have time to wait for you to die and hand over your property which they will then have to sell. No. They need your cash. NOW.
